$175,000 STOLEN FROM GOVERNMENT SUB-TREASURY

Chicago, Feb. 26.—The Tribune today says:

One of the largest—if not the largest—thefts from the United States treasury has been unearthed in Chicago.

Somewhere between $175,000 and $200,000 was stolen from the local sub-treasury last week. The money disappeared as completely as if it had vanished from the face of the earth.

The authorities here and in Washington have been working night and day on the robbery since it was discovered. Chief Wilkie of the United States secret service has been kept informed of every development and Secretary Shaw was told of the gigantic theft when in Chicago last week. The money was stolen, either a week ago Saturday, the next day or Monday. The chances are it was abstracted on Monday. The loss was discovered on Tuesday.

All the money taken was in large bills, bills of the denomination of $1000, $5000, and $10,000.

Just who discovered the loss the sub-treasury official would not admit last night. Neither would they tell from what department the money was taken nor how the loss was discovered.

An investigation showed that the thieves were employees of the sub-treasury and were at that moment pursuing their daily tasks. Every man who could have anything to do with the case was put through an exhaustive examination and a still more rigid cross-examination. Finally suspicion was directed toward Mr. Boldenweck, a certain clerk, and another employee, a close associate of the first man.

These men were summoned into the inquisition chamber separately and subjected to a grueling examination. One thought to be the moving spirit, came through the ordeal without turning a hair. The other, younger and much weaker, showed signs of breaking down. Just what he admitted the secret service men refuse to disclose, but it is believed to be tantamount to a confession.

Every employee of the office is under surveillance day and night and should one or more of them prove to be the thief or thieves escape will be impossible.

WORK OF CONVENTION WILL BE FINISHED BY MARCH 20

Guthrie, Feb. 26.—On the motion of Delegate Haskell Monday morning President Murray was authorized to appoint a "steering committee" to consist of ten members, who are to hasten the work and see that there is no delay in getting propositions up for consideration. The committee is a judiciary committee authorized to investigate the legal phases of questions up for consideration and to clear all complications. The committee is as follows: Hayes, Leahey, Moore, R. L. Williams, Ledbetter, Kane, Kornegay, Asp, Henshaw and King.

It is very probable that beginning some time this week the convention will hold night sessions. A petition containing 45 names asking for a session beginning at 7:30 each evening was presented yesterday by Delegate Edley. It was referred to the committee on rules and in all probability they will submit a favorable report some time this week. The 20th day of March will see the work of the convention at a close.

Chairman Hughes of the committee on municipal corporations yesterday filed the report of the committee with the convention, recommending the adoption of the Galveston municipal government system in cities over three thousand five hundred inhabitants. The power of the initiative and referendum is extended to the cities in the settlement of matters pertaining to their local government.

The report recommends that the cities be delegated power over all of the functions of city government free from legislative interference with the exception of their relations to the state as an integral part thereof. The cities are delegated the right to engage in any business as a municipality and given the right of municipal ownership. The committee on labor and arbitration has submitted the following report to the convention:

We, the committee on labor and arbitration, having had under consideration various propositions referred to us, beg leave to submit the following report:

Section 1. There is hereby created a department of labor.

Section 2. There is hereby created the office of labor commissioner to be elected by the people, whose term of office shall be four years, and whose salary shall be—, and whose duties shall be prescribed by the legislature.

Section 3. The legislature shall create a board of arbitration and cancellation in the labor department, and the labor commissioner shall be ex-officio chairman.

Section 4. Eight hours shall constitute a legal day's work on all work engaged in or aided by the state, county or municipality.

Section 5. The contracting of convict labor is hereby prohibited.

Section 6. The employment of children in shops, mills and factories, and other occupations injurious to health or morals, or especially hazardous to life or limb, under the age of 14, is hereby prohibited.

Section 7. The legislature shall pass laws to provide for the health and safety of employees in factories, mines or railroads.

TELLS HOW OKLAHOMA WILL STACK UP AT JAMESTOWN

"No other state in the Union will be able to show a larger or more complete display of mineral resources than Oklahoma will have in her exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition," is the statement of Superintendent Thoburn of the Oklahoma-Jamestown Exhibit. Continuing Mr. Thoburn said: "Few, even of her own people, realize the diversity, extent and richness of Oklahoma's mineral wealth. Missouri has sometimes been called 'the Pennsylvania of the west,' but Oklahoma does not have to accept any such second-hand compliments, for, in both the variety and extent of her mineral resources, she is several laps ahead of either of these great states. She can duplicate nearly every mineral product of either of them, and besides she possesses a number of others which are unknown to these states."

"The coal, oil and gas fields of Oklahoma are recognized among the greatest in the world. The asphalt deposits are so vast that no attempt has ever been made to compute their value. The metallic ores of Oklahoma include iron, copper, lead and zinc, with small quantities of gold and silver also. "Oklahoma has building stone in almost endless variety. Included in the list are granite, marble, oolite, limestone, sandstone and alabaster. Its clays and shales, which are suitable for the manufacture of brick, tile, pottery and other clay products, are of great variety and distribution. Its gypsum deposits, which are adapted to the manufacture of acme cement, are not excelled anywhere in the world. All of the materials for the manufacture of portland cement are to be found in this state with the necessary fuel right at hand. Quartz, sand and natural gas, iron ore and coking coal, occur in convenient proximity in this new state.

"Oklahoma has salt enough to season the soups and sauces and salads of millions of this world's hungry workers. To her fountains and wells come many of the earth's afflicted to drink of the healing mineral waters and be whole again. She could paint the surface of the entire earth red and still have a large part of her supply of mineral paint yet untouched.

"All of these substances and others not enumerated should be fitly represented in the Oklahoma exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition. Enterprising and patriotic citizens of the new state should evince a personal interest in this important matter and aid the Oklahoma-Jamestown Exposition company in its efforts to secure a representative display of the mineral resources and products for the exhibit which it is now gathering."

MAKE HASTE TO COMPLETE ENROLLMENT BY MARCH 4

Muskogee, I. T., Feb. 26.—"Take what information you have and write decisions on citizenship cases according to your judgment" is the effect of an order that is now effective to the law clerks in the commission who are passing on the applications of Indian applicants for enrollment and allotment.

The one idea now is to close all enrollment cases by March 4. In order to do this Commissioner Bixby has sent a force of law clerks and stenographers to Washington and they are working with the Indian office of the department of the Interior. When a schedule of approved applicants arrives from the commissioner, and the department of the interior wants any change made, the law clerks make the changes and wire Commissioner Bixby to that effect. This saves the indeterminable delay of letting the papers go through the department, be returned to the commissioner here and then sent back to Washington again. All of the enrollment work is kept right up to the hour now. Every case that is passed upon here is sent immediately to the secretary of the interior. The secretary must close finally all enrollment cases by March 4. After that time no application can be received and neither can a case be reopened.

The People Who Put The Price Down

MARCH 12 THE DAY FOR DEMOCRATIC CITY PRIMARY

In accordance with the call issued last week the Ada Democratic Club assembled several score strong in the commissioners' court room Monday night. President J. P. Wood presided and B. C. King was appointed secretary pro tem.

The chair explained it was the custom of the club to meet about this time each year, elect new officers and take steps to hold a city primary election.

Nominations for club president being called for, Judge Wood was re-nominated and elected by acclamation for another term. The audience would not permit the office of vice-president to go without a contest and a little fun. L. J. Little, George Thompson, R. O. Wheeler, and J. W. Davis were all nominated, but Mr. Little got the bulk of the votes.

For secretary J. W. Davis was again nominated, but he emphatically declined to run, insisting he was not fit for the office; that if he should write anything it would have to be sent to Hong Kong to get it read. As a consequence B. C. King was unanimously chosen, and the duties of treasurer were attached to the secretaryship. For sergeant-at-arms Otis B. Weaver was nominated. Being keenly covetous of the honor, Mr. Weaver forestalled any opposition by moving, himself, that the nominations close. This motion carried amid wild applause, and Mr. Weaver got his'n by a unanimous, rising vote.

Next came the selection of an executive committee, which should arrange for the city primary. Considerable discussion of the powers to be exercised by the committee followed, the particular stress being paid to the question of whether the coming election shall be governed by the old Arkansas statutes or by the Oklahoma law. Finally a much amended motion carried, directing the chair to appoint one man from each ward, they at once to select an executive committeeman from each ward. The chair named Messrs. Geo. Harrison, Ligon, Barton, and George Thompson. Soon they reported the following, who together with the president, constitute the executive committee: J. T. Conn, Jack Shirley, W. D. Lowden, Duke Stone.

A motion of Mr. Stone prevailed that Tuesday, March 12, be set for the city Democratic primary, that being just three weeks previous to the city election. More discussion of the committee's powers and the confusion of the election laws ensued, resulting in that body being clothed with plenary powers in the premises.

The chair appointed Attorneys Stone, Barton, Campbell, and Galbraith a committee to get busy picking out the proper procedure from the mass of legal confusion occasioned by the coming on of statehood, their conclusions to be submitted to the mayor.

VERY FINE MIXTURE.

Everybody Should Know of this Simple Prescription.

Cut this out and put it in some safe place, for it is valuable and worth more than anything else in the world if you should have an attack of rheumatism or bladder trouble or any derangement of the kidneys whatever.

The prescription is simple, and can be made up by anyone at home. The ingredients can be had at every good prescription pharmacy and all that is necessary is to shake them well in a bottle.

Here it is: Fluid extract dandelion, one-half ounce; compound Kargon, one ounce; compound syrup of sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. A few doses is said to relieve almost any case of bladder trouble, frequent urination, pain and scalding, weakness and backache, pain above the kidneys, etc. It is now claimed to be the method of curing chronic rheumatism, because of its direct and positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It cleanses these sponge-like organs and gives them life and power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood relieving the worst forms of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles. The extract dandelion acts upon the stomach and liver and is used also extensively for relieving constipation and indigestion. Compound sarsaparilla cleanses and enriches the blood.

As you or any of your family, especially the old folks, may be attacked at any time it would be wise to cut this out and save it.

A well-known local druggist is authority that this prescription is safe to use at any time.

Mix it yourself.

BECAUSE SHE'S A WOMAN.

Criticism of the Gentle Sex Evidently Written by a Bachelor.

She will save and scrimp on the laundry bills, and haggle with the butcher, and make over her last year's hat, and then—she will take all the wealth she has amassed by this painful process and stuff it into a flimsy chate-laine bag with a weak clasp and walk serenely down among the 40 thieves of Broadway, says the New York Press.

She will spend hours writing a long letter, imploring an answer by return mail, and then—she will post it without a stamp and without having once mentioned her address.

She will stand before the mirror for 20 minutes putting her hat on at exactly the right angle and will suffer tortures at the sight of a picture that hangs crooked, or a sofa pillow that is turned the wrong way, or a chair that is out of place, and then—she will sign a thousand dollar check upside down.

She will waste a fortune at the masseuse's having her flesh reduced and will walk and bant and exercise herself into nervous hysteria, and then—she will go home and eat enough chocolate fudge to give a strong man fatty degeneration of the chin.

She will cut a woman she dislikes dead in the street and talk about her to the whole community, and then—she will go straight home and wear her fingers out trying to make her hat over like that same woman's.

She will go without a lot of things she really wants, and mend her old clothes until they drop to pieces, and then—she will spend the money she has thus saved on a pink and gilt angel for the parlor mantel.

She will trot around in the rain hunting for three-quarters of a yard of ribbon on a new patent hairpin until she is exhausted, ruining her best clothes and wearing her shoes and her nerves to tatters, and then—come home and weep because the dampness has taken the wave out of her fifty-cent marcel.

She will spank her little boy until he cries for mercy because he told a lie about his pet dog and filched a penny from her pocketbook, and then—she will calmly put him on a street car and look the conductor squarely in the eye while she perjures herself about the boy's age and cheats the car company out of a nickel.

She is a puzzle, an enigma, a paradox, but then—she is a woman.

First Time Under Fire.

"How did you feel the first time you were in battle?" Sergt. J. E. Williams was asked by a Kansas City Star reporter.

"Mighty shaky," the sergeant said. "And I was in charge of a squad of men, too. My first engagement was in 1899 in the Philippine islands. I was a corporal then. I belonged to Battery O of the Sixth artillery. We had been in the islands two days and were stationed in Luzon. My squad—seven men and myself—were sent out to do post duty. We started early in the morning and about five o'clock in the evening arrived at our post, a lonely place, overgrown with tropical vegetation and generally depressing.

"We camped and—waited. A little after dark I saw a flash from a clump of dark vegetation about a thousand yards away. At the same time I heard a bullet whing over my head. I never was scared so badly before. It seemed that that bullet went right through me. The men were waiting for orders. I tried to give them, but the only result was an inarticulate gurgle.

"There I stood, with seven men waiting for orders. My knees were shaking and I felt that every hair on my head was standing on end. Then several more flashes came and one of my men fell, wounded by one of the bullets.

"Well, sir, that made me mad. I started to cussing. I swore at every one, the natives, the Philippines, my soldiers. When that man fell all my fear left me."

A Trio of Husbands.

The traveled girl was explaining the strange looking locket she had about her neck on a thin gold chain.

"It is a Buddhist charm," she said, "to keep off bad luck. A swarthy little woman in Tibet gave it to me. She took a great fancy to me. It is handsome, if the back is of tin. The face is of turquoise. They make them like that in Tibet. The little woman's husbands came up to her one by one, begging her to go home with them, but she wouldn't till she had finished talking to me. I felt very much flattered. Oh, yes, she had three husbands. The women are very scarce, you know, in Tibet. It was lovely to see them dancing attendance on her; tall fellows they were, too, and handsome.

"She asked me how many husbands I had. It was very humiliating to have to acknowledge to her that I hadn't any," she sighed.

A Real Lemon.

"Talk about a lemon," said a newly engaged man, as he rubbed his hands wildly through his hair. "I thought I was on the wrong track when I asked a girl to marry me. But she accepted all right and I gave her an engagement ring.

"Imagine how I felt when I called to take her to the theater last night and she greeted me in a hat trimmed with lemons. I almost fainted at the sight, but apparently she didn't notice my embarrassment, for she smiled sweetly and asked me—how I liked them. And now I'm wondering whether it's all off and whether I'll get back the ring."

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very small way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man whose account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

RAN INTO BURNING BRIDGE.

Frisco Engineer Couldn't See for the Fog—Nobody Hurt.

Frisco passenger train No. 512, north-bound, about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning ran into a burning bridge south of Scullin with right serious results in the way of interrupted traffic.

An early morning fog prevented the engineer seeing the danger until right upon the burning structure. Both he and the fireman jumped and luckily escaped injury. The timbers giving way, the locomotive tumbled down the embankment and lay helplessly on its side. Save the front trucks of the mail car, all the rest of the train came to a standstill on the track, all intact and no one injured.

A repairing crew was hurriedly got together at Francis and Ada and by 10 o'clock left here for the scene of the wreck. It is thought the track will be restored before night.

The morning Meteor after being held at Ada two hours, departed for Denison over the M. K. & T. tracks.

The other southbound went on to the burned bridge, transferred with the wrecked train and reached Ada on its return at 2 p. m.

WHOLE TOWN WON BY "REVIVAL"

Remarkable Success Attends Work of Evangelists at Abingdon, Illinois.

PLACE IS TRANSFORMED

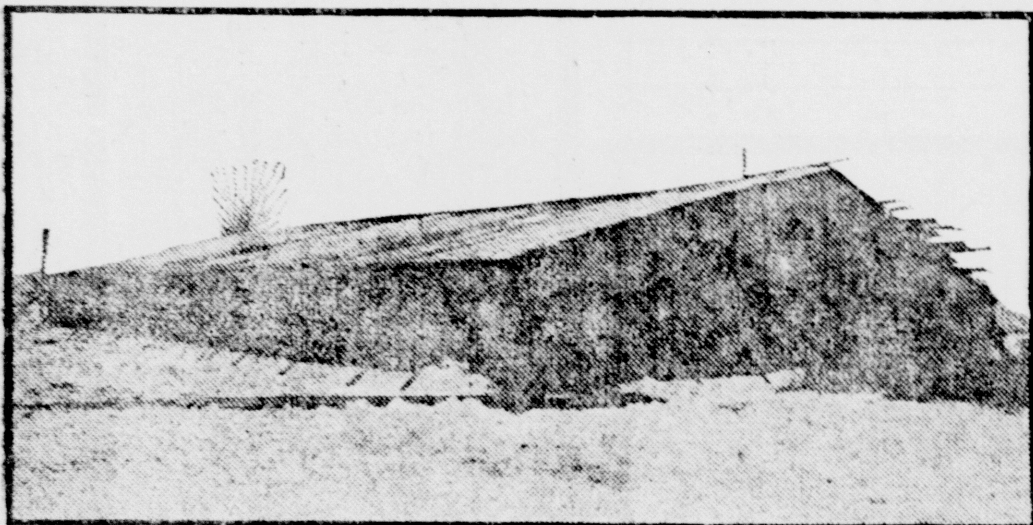

Over 700 Converts in City of About 2,500 Population—Churches Not Large Enough to Hold Crowds and a Tabernacle Erected by Voluntary Laborers—Business Men Plan to Build Permanent Y. M. C. A. Building for the Youth of the Town as a Monument to the Wonderful Work.

Abingdon, Ill.—A remarkable revival has swept over this town, converting all save 200 or 300. The place is transformed. The streets ring with Gospel songs day and night. Cottage prayer meetings are now the fashionable thing. Young hoodlums who loafed about, gambling and swearing, now spend their leisure hours reading their Bibles and praying. The community has been moved in much the same manner as were the Welsh villages in the height of the awakening there.

The movement began under the leadership of two young evangelists, Ira Evans Hicks and E. S. Galloway, assisted by Homer Alexander, brother of Charles M. Alexander, the famous Gospel singer. Some idea of the upheaval wrought by the revival may be gained from the fact that there were over 700 converts; with scores of backsliders reclaimed, in a town of only about 2,500 population.

Volunteers Erect Tabernacle.

The meetings began a month ago in the largest church in Abingdon, seating 800 people. It soon proved altogether too small, and with typical western energy the people, led by the evangelists themselves, set to work to erect a tabernacle that would accommodate the crowds. With the assistance of about 50 volunteers, a tabernacle seating 2,000 was erected in three days. Not a penny was spent for labor. It contained a semi-circular platform accommodating 300; was lighted with electricity, heated with stoves. Then the meetings went forward with redoubled vigor. The "tough" young men of the town attended nightly, the farmers drove in from all the surrounding district, and the building proved none too large to hold the throngs which gathered day by day.

Immense Tabernacle Erected in Which Services Were Held.

People say it is in answer to prayer that the work began. The young evangelists and their helpers make it a rule to spend an hour daily in prayer. The people quickly caught the religious fervor, and they, too, spent hours upon their knees. During the fourth week over 100 people agreed to spend at least half an hour daily in prayer. It is known that even some of the children spent an hour in prayer daily.

Revival Flame Strong.

The revival flame swept the town almost clean. Among the early converts were boys and girls; then came young men and women; and finally men who had never professed Christianity, business men, college students, workmen in the factories, and gray-haired army veterans. In a number of cases four or five members of one family were converted. One young man arose in a meeting and testified that his father (an ex-saloon keeper) and mother and five brothers and four sisters had been saved—11 in all.

In the large wagon factory in Abingdon scores of the men went forward and professed salvation. The entire atmosphere of the place was changed. Scarcely half a dozen men were left unconverted. Instead of drinking and sweating at the dinner hour, they now have a daily song service and prayer meeting. One of the factory converts was an atheist for many years, who roundly cursed everything Christian. He now carries a little Testament in his pocket wherever he goes. Another convert was a notorious character about the town, drinking and carousing, and being once nearly killed in a brawl. He is a big, vigorous man, and is now throwing all his energy into winning others. Within four days after his conversion he had led nine old companions to the front to publicly confess their faith.

Students Brought to Grace.

Hedding college is located in Abingdon, and the revival wrought a big change there. Of the 150 regular students all but four or five are now converted. As one of the professors expressed it: "Nobody tries to keep track of the prayer meetings. The attendance varies from two up to almost the whole number of students."

One of the most enthusiastic converts was the editor of one of the local newspapers. He helped promote the movement and spread the fire into the country districts by placing his paper in the hands of the evangelists for a week. They issued three "revival editions" describing the work in Abingdon, and giving news of the world-wide awakening. In each issue there were about two columns of Scripture narrative put into newspaper form, and a decision card which could be signed by any reader and sent the evangelists. It created great interest.

Rev. F. L. Hanscom, pastor of the Congregational church in Abingdon, in giving one of the "revival editions" his impressions of the work, said: "The great revival which is sweeping over the city is the greatest blessing that has come to it since its inception. The churches are united as never before. Christians love one another as at no other time. And there are more saved souls in Abingdon to-day than at any period of her past history. Five hundred and more have been wondrously and gloriously converted to God. Husbands have been saved and made them slaves—wives have been saved from indifferent lives and made to shine anew for Jesus—while scores have gone back to the grave where they years ago buried all their hopes, and bidding them come forth, came back with shining faces, saying:

Numerous "Pocket Testament Leagues" have been organized among the boys and girls and young people of the town. Each member carries a Testament in his or her pocket, reads the Scriptures daily and endeavors to win others to Christ. The members meet weekly at one another's homes for testimony and prayer.

Another result of the revival is that several have decided to become preachers or Gospel singers. One lad, about 15 years of age, said he had decided to become a minister, while another about 12 said that was what he wanted to do. A young workman in a factory says he hopes shortly to go to the Moody Bible Institute to prepare for evangelistic work. He told me that he now loves his Bible and souls so much that he cannot put his heart into his work at the factory any more. He longs to spend the whole day at home reading his Bible and then going out to win the lost.

Will Become Gospel Singer.

A young man who is one of the foremost students in Hedding college has decided to become a Gospel singer. He now has charge of the choir in the largest church in Abingdon, and has exceptional talent as a singer and musical conductor. He has been a nominal Christian for years. A few days ago he declared that heretofore his ambition had been to become a professional singer for his own glory; but that now he has yielded all to Christ and desires to be used for God's glory. He will probably unite with Homer Alexander in conducting revival meetings in a neighboring town.

The business men of Abingdon have declared their intention of caring for the bodies as well as the souls of the large number of young men among the converts, and have started a movement for the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building. This will stand as a brick and mortar monument to this unique revival.

GEORGE T. E. DAVIS

WHAT THEY WANTED TO KNOW.

Children Had Many Questions to Put to Wise Man.

To find out what is passing in the thoughts of my children I yesterday confronted them with this demand: "Suppose this morning an all wise man were to enter our classroom, what six things would you ask?" The children were ordinary, everyday Canadian boys and girls, between the ages of nine and 14, but the questions they put to that imaginary shape from the all wise shades were not commonplace. They surprised me not a little and have set me thinking. So writes Miss Agnes Deans Cameron in the January Pall Mall Magazine, and a few of the many she gives are subjoined:

"Why is it that the sun only goes half way round the earth?" "Why is it that we don't slip off the earth?" "If the earth stopped, what would happen to us?" "How big is a volcano inside?" "Who was the first school teacher?" "Please can you tell me all about history?"

"When the world comes to an end, how can the people be united if parts of their bodies are in different parts of the world?" "Who was the man that invented grammar?" "What does ignorance personified mean?" "Where was God born?" "What holds this world up?" "Why did the Lord make many planets, instead of one large one?" "If the earth stopped going round, what would happen?" "If you jumped off the world and went straight on, where would you go to?" "Why did Joseph not tell his brethren he was their brother the first time they came down to Egypt to buy corn?" "What is the power of one of the suckers of a devilfish?" "Who is the prettiest person in the world?" "Why did Noah take some animals into the ark and leave others to get drowned?" "Why is there such a thing as politics?" "Why are some people more sensible than others?"

It is a boy who writes: "I would like to know how you can tell mother pigeons from father pigeons?" and "Who invented the first joke?" while the youngest girl in the whole class wrote, in a wee little hand, in the middle of a sheet of foolscap: "Please would you tell me what my mother thinks every day in her mind?"

WHEN SERVING EGGS

SOME NEW METHODS OF COOKING WORTH TRYING.

Departures from Old Styles That Will Be Appreciated by the Family or Guests—Eggs a la Goldenrod.

Eggs a la Suisse.—Four eggs, one-half cup cream, one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons grated cheese, salt, pepper, cayenne. Heat a small omelet pan, put in butter and when melted add cream. Slip in the eggs—one at a time, sprinkle with salt, pepper, and a few grains of cayenne. When whites are nearly firm sprinkle with cheese. Finish cooking and serve on buttered toast. Strain cream over the toast.

Eggs a la Buckingham.—Make five slices milk toast and arrange on platter. Use recipe for scrambled eggs, having the eggs slightly underdone. Pour eggs over toast, sprinkle with four tablespoons grated mild cheese. Put in oven to melt cheese and finish cooking eggs.

Eggs a la Finnoise.—Have ready a shallow pan two-thirds full of boiling salted water, allowing one-half tablespoon salt to one quart of water. Put two or three buttered muffin pans in the water. Break each egg separately into a cup and carefully slip into a muffin ring. The water should cover the eggs. When there is a film over the top and the white is firm carefully remove with a buttered skimmer to circular pieces of buttered toast and cover with a tomato sauce, seasoned with salt and pepper and butter.

Shirred Eggs.—Butter an egg shirrer. Cover bottom and sides with fine cracker crumbs. Break an egg into a cup and carefully slip into shirrer. Cover with seasoned buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until white is firm and crumbs brown. The shirrers should be placed on a tin plate that they may be removed easily from the oven.

Eggs in Tomatoes.—Cut a slice from stem end of tomato, scoop out the pulp, slip in an egg, sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover with buttered crumbs, and bake.

Eggs a la Goldenrod.—Three hard boiled eggs, one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour, one cup milk, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, five slices toast, parsley. Make a thin, white sauce with butter, flour, milk and seasonings. Separate yolks from whites of eggs. Chop whites finely and add them to the sauce. Cut four slices of toast in halves lengthwise, arrange on platter and pour over the sauce. Force the yolks through a potato ricer or strainer, sprinkling over the top. Garnish with parsley and remaining toast cut in points.

Egg Farci.—Cut hard boiled eggs in halves crosswise. Remove yolks and put whites aside in pairs. Mash yolks and add equal amount of cold cooked chicken or veal finely chopped. Moisten with melted butter or mayonnaise.

A Handy Remedy for Burns.

I have often heard women say that they can never go near the kitchen stove without getting burned, and no doubt some of us, if not all of us, have suffered many big as well as little burns and scalds for the want of some simple remedy. Of course, we all know that bicarbonate of soda or common baking soda is one of the simplest remedies, but even that does not give immediate relief. Kerosene is the easiest remedy to procure, and is always handy in the kitchen, saving steps to the medicine chest when one is in a hurry, and experience has shown it as the most expedient. Cover the burn or scald with the kerosene and repeat until the burning sensation is gone. I have never known any tenderness or soreness to follow, or any trace of the burn to be left wherever kerosene had been used.—Pictorial Review.

Cream Puff.

Put four tablespoonfuls of butter and a cup of water together in a saucepan and place over a slow fire. Have already measured one cup of flour and, as soon as the water and butter reach the boiling point, add the flour all at once and stir vigorously. When thoroughly mixed remove from the fire and add four unbeaten eggs, beating the mixture between the times that each egg is added. Drop by the spoonful on buttered pans, having a space of one and one-half inches between each puff. Bake in a slow oven for half an hour. When done and cool cut a slit in the side of each puff and fill with sweetened whipped cream. Use to a cup of cream four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. This recipe makes eight puffs.

How to Wash Cut Glass.

Never put heavy, elaborately cut glass into very hot water. The depth of the cutting makes it dangerous to expose the glass to sudden expansion caused by the plunge into the hot water. Rinse in tepid water to which has been added a little ammonia, and clean the irregular surfaces with a soft brush. It is also unsafe to turn ice into a cut-glass dish unless it has been gradually chilled in the icebox. Cracked cut glass can frequently be preserved to a useful old age by the skillful insertion of a few rivets. These will not be noticeable, and can be obtained at any crockery store.

To Keep Canvas Bright.

To keep canvas bright apply to the surface a small quantity of linseed oil, using a soft rag, and afterwards rub as dry as possible. Five cents worth of linseed oil will be sufficient for two or three applications.

SNOWBALL PUSHBALL.

Fun Which the Boys Can Have with It.

The giant snowball, when completed, is usually fun only for the boy who can manufacture it on the top of a steep hill and then let it roll down, scattering snow and smashing everything in its path until it hits a tree or a fence and flies into a thousand pieces. That is really fun for the boy who lives where the hills are. But the chap who happens to live where the country is flat, or in the city, gets very little amusement out of the big snowball after he has made it. Then it is useful only as the foundation for a snow fort—unless he knows how to play snowball pushball.

Instead of the immense leather or rubber ball that is used in the regular game of pushball a giant snowball is substituted. This is, of course, too heavy to be pushed about in the air, dancing on the upraised hands of the opposing teams, as in the game of pushball proper. First select your playing field and then make the big snow pushball on the spot.

While it is being made measure off your ground, which should be a perfectly level field, or yard. The two goals shown in the picture are 90 feet apart. The goal itself is 20 feet wide between its sticks. The snow pushball must be firmly rolled in a hard, compact mass, strong enough to stand the strain of being tugged and pushed about. This may be done by dampening the snow. Now choose sides, matched as evenly as possible, and you are ready for the game.

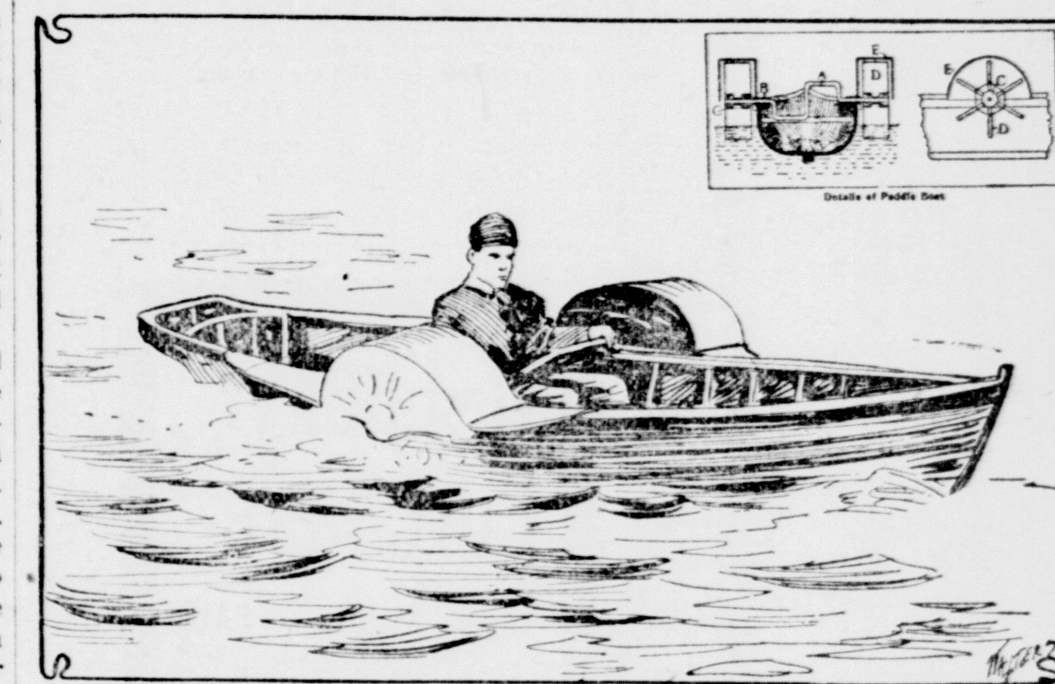

The ball is put in play in the middle of the field, as in football, explains Good Literature. The teams line up on each side of it, and at a given signal as many as can reach it with their hands and try to force it toward their opponents' goal. The team that rolls it over its adversary's goal line wins. Football tactics and body checking may or may not be used, but a player may not hold an opponent.

You may think this an easy game to play, but there is one thing which makes it quite unique and may change your opinion.

If you hold your game on a field when the snow is very deep and "packy" the ball is bound to become larger and heavier with every revolution it makes, on account of the snow it collects as it rolls along, so that the nearer the winning side pushes it toward their weaker opponents' goal, the heavier and more awkward to manage it becomes, until—

Maybe just as they finally manage to force it within a few feet of the weak side's goal line the ball grows so big that it is absolutely impossible to budge it—and then a tie game results, much to the mortification of the strong team and the joyful surprise of their weaker opponents.

Making a Paddle Boat for Next Summer

The Paddle Boat Complete, and the Working Parts.

A rowboat has several disadvantages. The operation of the oars is both tiresome and uninteresting and the oarsman is obliged to travel backwards. By replacing the oars with paddles, as shown in the illustration, the operator can see where he is going and enjoy the exercise much better than with oars. He can easily steer the boat with his feet, by means of a pivoted stick in the bottom of the boat, connected by cords to the rudder.

The following directions are given by Popular Science: At the blacksmith shop have a five-eighths inch shaft made, as shown at A, Fig. 2. It will be necessary to furnish a sketch giving all the dimensions of the shaft, which should be designed to suit the dimensions of the boat, taking care that sufficient clearance is allowed, so that the cranks in revolving will not strike the operator's knees. If desired, split-wood handles may be placed on the cranks, to prevent them from rubbing the hands.

The bearings, B, can be made of hard wood, but preferably of iron pipe filled with melted babbitt. If babbitt is used, either thoroughly smoke or chalk the shaft or wrap paper around it to prevent the babbitt sticking. The pieces of pipe may be then fastened to the boat by means of small pipe straps, such as may be obtained at any plumber's at a very small cost.

The hubs, C, should be made of wood, drilled to fit the shaft and mortised out to hold the paddles, D. The covers, E, may be constructed of thin wood or galvanized iron and should be braced by triangular boards, as shown in Fig. 1. If galvanized iron is used it should be exposed to the weather two or three months before painting or the paint will come off, spoiling its appearance.

A PORTABLE DARK-ROOM.

Outfit Which the Amateur Photographer Will Find Convenient.

Many amateur photographers who cannot have a regular dark-room will find the device here illustrated very useful and convenient. If desired it may be constructed so as to allow folding up when not in use, by using hinges at A and B and making the sides flexible.

The bottom and frame are made of wood and the walls are constructed of light-proof cloth, formed by gluing black paper between two pieces of black cloth. The back should be full enough to allow plenty of room for the operator and the cloth should be tied securely around his waist to exclude every possible ray of light.

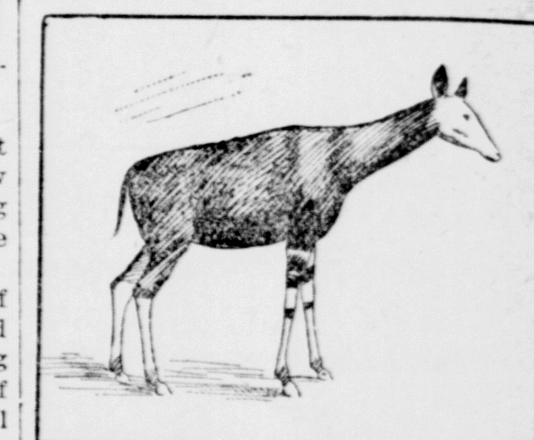

It is well to paint the whole interior a dull black, so that any small leakage of light will not be reflected. The ventilating tube and drain pipe should be bent as shown, to exclude the light, and the ruby glass should be carefully fitted for the same purpose. It is also desirable to have a hinged shutter, S, to cover the ruby glass while waiting for the plate to develop. This, explains Popular Mechanics, is to prevent any unnecessary exposure to the ruby light, as any light no matter how colored or subdued, has some effect on the sensitive plate or film. The drain pipe shown on this outfit may be omitted if desired, although it is convenient at times and gives a better circulation of air.

THE SHY OKAPI.

Strange Animal That Is Found in Some Parts of Africa.

Another specimen of this singular African animal has recently been obtained by Major Powell-Cotton. It was killed in the Ituri forest by a native hunter. So far as Major Powell-Cotton has been able to learn, says Youth's Companion, only one European had previously seen a living okapi. The Mambutti natives (pygmies) say that the okapi is solitary in its habits—that even the two members of a pair invariably feed apart, although when they have a calf they frequent the same region of the forest. The female keeps her calf concealed in covert, but visits it at intervals to feed it. The natives usually see the animals in rainy weather, when they sometimes seek shelter under an abandoned roof.

$175,000 STOLEN FROM GOVERNMENT SUB-TREASURY

Chicago, Feb. 26.—The Tribune today says:

One of the largest—if not the largest—thefts from the United States treasury has been unearthed in Chicago.

Somewhere between $175,000 and $200,000 was stolen from the local sub-treasury last week. The money disappeared as completely as if it had vanished from the face of the earth.

The authorities here and in Washington have been working night and day on the robbery since it was discovered. Chief Wilkie of the United States secret service has been kept informed of every development and Secretary Shaw was told of the gigantic theft when in Chicago last week. The money was stolen, either a week ago Saturday, the next day or Monday. The chances are it was abstracted on Monday. The loss was discovered on Tuesday.

All the money taken was in large bills, bills of the denomination of $1000, $5000, and $10,000.

Just who discovered the loss the sub-treasury official would not admit last night. Neither would they tell from what department the money was taken nor how the loss was discovered.

As investigation showed that the thieves were employees of the sub-treasury and were at that moment pursuing their daily tasks. Every man who could have anything to do with the case was put through an exhaustive examination and a still more rigid cross-examination. Finally suspicion was directed toward Mr. Boldenweck, a certain clerk, and another employee, a close associate of the first man.

These men were summoned into the inquisition chamber separately and subjected to a grueling examination. One thought to be the moving spirit, came through the ordeal without turning a hair. The other, younger and much weaker, showed signs of breaking down. Just what he admitted the secret service men refuse to disclose, but it is believed to be tantamount to a confession.

Every employee of the office is under surveillance day and night and should one or more of them prove to be the thief or thieves escape will be impossible.

WORK OF CONVENTION WILL BE FINISHED BY MARCH 20

Guthrie, Feb. 26.—On the motion of Delegate Haskell Monday morning President Murray was authorized to appoint a "steering committee" to consist of ten members, who are to hasten the work and see that there is no delay in getting propositions up for consideration. The committee is a judiciary committee authorized to investigate the legal phases of questions up for consideration and to clear all complications. The committee is as follows: Hayes, Leahy, Moore, R. L. Williams, Ledbetter, Kane, Kornegay, Asp, Henshaw and King.

It is very probable that beginning some time this week the convention will hold night sessions. A petition containing 45 names asking for a session beginning at 7:30 each evening was presented yesterday by Delegate Edley. It was referred to the committee on rules and in all probability they will submit a favorable report some time this week. The 20th day of March will see the work of the convention at a close.

Chairman Hughes of the committee on municipal corporations yesterday filed the report of the committee with the convention, recommending the adoption of the Galveston municipal government system in cities over three thousand five hundred inhabitants. The power of the initiative and referendum is extended to the cities in the settlement of matters pertaining to their local government.

The report recommends that the cities be delegated power over all of the functions of city government free from legislative interference with the exception of their relations to the state as an integral part thereof.

The cities are delegated the right to engage in any business as a municipality and given the right of municipal ownership.

The committee on labor and arbitration has submitted the following report to the convention:

We, the committee on labor and arbitration, having had under consideration various propositions referred to us, beg leave to submit the following report:

Section 1. There is hereby created a department of labor.

Sec. 2. There is hereby created the office of labor commissioner to be elected by the people, whose term of office shall be four years, and whose salary shall be—, and whose duties shall be prescribed by the legislature.

Sec. 3. The legislature shall create a board of arbitration and cancellation in the labor department, and the labor commissioner shall be ex-officio chairman.

Sec. 4. Eight hours shall constitute a legal day's work on all work engaged in or aided by the state, county or municipality.

Sec. 5. The contracting of convict labor is hereby prohibited.

Sec. 6. The employment of children in shops, mills and factories, and other occupations injurious to health or morals, or especially hazardous to life or limb, under the age of 14, is hereby prohibited.

Sec. 7. The legislature shall pass laws to provide for the health and safety of employees in factories, mines or railroads.

TELLS HOW OKLAHOMA WILL STACK UP AT JAMESTOWN

"No other state in the Union will be able to show a larger or more complete display of mineral resources than Oklahoma will have in her exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition," is the statement of Superintendent Theburn of the Oklahoma-Jamestown Exhibit. Continuing Mr. Theburn said: "Few, even of her own people, realize the diversity, extent and richness of Oklahoma's mineral wealth. Missouri has sometimes been called 'the Pennsylvania of the west,' but Oklahoma does not have to accept any such second-hand compliments, for, in both the variety and extent of her mineral resources, she is several laps ahead of either of these great states. She can duplicate nearly every mineral product of either of them, and besides she possesses a number of others which are unknown to these states."

"The coal, oil and gas fields of Oklahoma are recognized among the greatest in the world. The asphalt deposits are so vast that no attempt has ever been made to compute their value. The metallic ores of Oklahoma include iron, copper, lead and zinc, with small quantities of gold and silver also."

"Oklahoma has building stone in almost endless variety. Included in the list are granite, marble, oolite, limestone, sandstone and alabaster. Its clays and shales, which are suitable for the manufacture of brick, tile, pottery and other clay products, are of great variety and distribution. Its gypsum deposits, which are adapted to the manufacture of some cement, are not excelled anywhere in the world. All of the materials for the manufacture of portland cement are to be found in this state with the necessary fuel right at hand. Quartz, sand and natural gas, iron ore and coking coal, occur in convenient proximity in this new state."

"Oklahoma has salt enough to season the soups and sauces and salads of millions of this world's hungry workers. To her mountains and wells come many of the earth's afflicted to drink of the healing mineral waters and be whole again. She could point the surface of the entire earth red and still have a large part of her supply of mineral paint yet untouched."

"All of these substances and others not enumerated should be fully represented in the Oklahoma exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition. Enterprising and patriotic citizens of the new state should evince a personal interest in this important matter and aid the Oklahoma-Jamestown Exposition company in its efforts to secure a representative display of the mineral resources and products for the exhibit which it is now gathering."

MAKE HASTE TO COMPLETE ENROLLMENT BY MARCH 4

Muskogee, I. T., Feb. 26.—"Take what information you have and write decisions on citizenship cases according to your judgment" is the effect of an order that is now effective to the law clerks in the commission who are passing on the applications of Indian applicants for enrollment and allotment.

The one idea now is to close all enrollment cases by March 4. In order to do this Commissioner Bixby has sent a force of law clerks and stenographers to Washington and they are working with the Indian office of the department of the Interior. When a schedule of approved applicants arrives from the commissioner, and the department of the interior wants any change made, the law clerks make the changes and wire Commissioner Bixby to that effect. This saves the indeterminable delay of letting the papers go through the department, be returned to the commissioner here and then sent back to Washington again. All of the enrollment work is kept right up to the hour now. Every case that is passed upon here is sent immediately to the secretary of the interior. The secretary must close finally all enrollment cases by March 4. After that time no application can be received and neither can a case be reopened.

The People Who Put The Price Down

MARCH 12 THE DAY FOR DEMOCRATIC CITY PRIMARY

In accordance with the call issued last week the Ada Democratic Club assembled several score strong in the commissioners' court room Monday night. President J. P. Wood presided and B. C. King was appointed secretary pro tem.

The chair explained it was the custom of the club to meet about this time each year, elect new officers and take steps to hold a city primary election.

Nominations for club president being called for, Judge Wood was re-nominated and elected by acclamation for another term. The audience would not permit the office of vice-president to go without a contest and a little fun. L. J. Little, George Thompson, R. O. Wheeler, and J. W. Davis were all nominated, but Mr. Little got the bulk of the votes.

For secretary J. W. Davis was again nominated, but he emphatically declined to run, insisting he was not fit for the office; that if he should write anything it would have to be sent to Hong Kong to get it read. As a consequence B. C. King was unanimously chosen, and the duties of treasurer were attached to the secretaryship. For sergeant-at-arms Otis B. Weaver was nominated. Being keenly covetous of the honor, Mr. Weaver forestalled any opposition by moving, himself, that the nominations close. This motion carried amid wild applause, and Mr. Weaver got his'n by a unanimous, rising vote.

Next came the selection of an executive committee, which should arrange for the city primary. Considerable discussion of the powers to be exercised by the committee followed, particular stress being paid to the question of whether the coming election shall be governed by the old Arkansas statutes or by the Oklahoma law. Finally a much amended motion carried, directing the chair to appoint one man from each ward, they at once to select an executive committeeman from each ward. The chair named Messrs. Geo. Harrison, Ligon, Barton, and George Thompson. Soon they reported the following, who together with the president, constitute the executive committee: J. T. Conn, Jack Shirley, W. D. Lowden, Duke Stone.

A motion of Mr. Stone prevailed that Tuesday, March 12, be set for the city Democratic primary, that being just three weeks previous to the city election. More discussion of the committee's powers and the confusion of the election laws ensued, resulting in that body being clothed with plenary powers in the premises.

The chair appointed Attorney Stone, Barton, Campbell, and Galbraith a committee to get busy picking out the proper procedure from the mass of legal confusion occasioned by the coming on of statehood, their conclusions to be submitted to the mayor.

VERY FINE MIXTURE.

Everybody Should Know of this Simple Prescription.

Cut this out and put it in some safe place, for it is valuable and worth more than anything else in the world if you should have an attack of rheumatism or bladder trouble or any derangement of the kidneys whatever.

The prescription is simple, and can be made up by anyone at home. The ingredients can be had at every good prescription pharmacy and all that is necessary is to shake them well in a bottle.

Here it is: Fluid extract dandelion, one-half ounce; compound Kargon, one ounce; compound syrup of sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Take a teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime. A few doses is said to relieve almost any case of bladder trouble, frequent urination, pain and scalding, weakness and backache, pain above the kidneys, etc. It is now claimed to be the method of curing chronic rheumatism, because of its direct and positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It cleanses these sponge-like organs and gives them life and power to sift and strain the poisonous waste matter and uric acid from the blood relieving the worst forms of rheumatism and kidney and bladder troubles. The extract dandelion acts upon the stomach and liver and is used also extensively for relieving constipation and indigestion. Compound sarsaparilla cleanses and enriches the blood.

As you or any of your family, especially the old folks, may be attacked at any time it would be wise to cut this out and save it.

A well-known local druggist is authority that this prescription is safe to use at any time.

Mix it yourself.

BECAUSE SHE'S A WOMAN.

Criticism of the Gentle Sex Evidently Written by a Bachelor.

She will save and scrimp on the laundry bills, and haggle with the butcher, and make over her last year's hat, and then—she will take all the wealth she has amassed by this painful process and stuff it into a flimsy chate-laine bag with a weak clasp and walk serenely down among the 40 thieves of Broadway, says the New York Press.

She will spend hours writing a long letter, imploring an answer by return mail, and then—she will post it without a stamp and without having once mentioned her address.

She will stand before the mirror for 20 minutes putting her hat on at exactly the right angle and will suffer tortures at the sight of a picture that hangs crooked, or a sofa pillow that is turned the wrong way, or a chair that is out of place, and then—she will sign a thousand dollar check upside down.

She will waste a fortune at the masseuse's having her flesh reduced and will walk and bant and exercise herself into nervous hysteria, and then—she will go home and eat enough chocolate fudge to give a strong man fatty degeneration of the chin.

She will cut a woman she dislikes dead in the street and talk about her to the whole community, and then—she will go straight home and wear her fingers out trying to make her hat over like that same woman's.

She will go without a lot of things she really wants and mend her old clothes until they drop to pieces, and then—she will spend the money she has thus saved on a pink and gilt angel for the parlor mantel.

She will get around in the rain hunting for the centers of a yard of ribbon on a new patent hairpin until she is exhausted, running her best clothes and losing her shoes and her nerves to nothing, and then—come home and weep because the dampness has taken the life out of her fifty-cent marcel.

She will spank her little boy until he cries for mercy because he told a lie about his pet dog and flicked a penny from her pocketbook, and then—she will calmly put him on a street car and look the conductor squarely in the eye while she perjures herself about the boy's age and cheats the car company out of a nickel.

She is a puzzle, an enigma, a paradox, but then—she is a woman.

First Time Under Fire.

"How did you feel the first time you were in battle?" Secret J. E. Williams was asked by a Kansas City Star reporter.

"Mighty shaky," the sergeant said. And I was in charge of a squad of men, too. My first engagement was in 1899 in the Philippine Islands. I was a corporal then. I belonged to Battery O of the Sixth artillery. We had been in the islands two days and were stationed in Luzon. My squad—seven men and myself—were sent out to do post duty. We started early in the morning and about five o'clock in the evening arrived at our post, a lonely place overgrown with tropical vegetation and generally depressing.

"We camped and—waited. A little after dark I saw a flash from a clump of dark vegetation about a thousand yards away. At the same time I heard a bullet whining over my head. I never was scared so badly before. It seemed that that bullet went right through me. The men were waiting for orders. I tried to give them but the only result was an inarticulate gurgle.

"There I stood, with seven men waiting for orders. My knees were shaking and I felt that every hair on my head was standing on end. Then several more flashes came and one of my men fell, wounded by one of the bullets.

"Well, sir, that made me mad. I started to cursing. I swore at every one the natives, the Philippines, my soldiers. When that man fell all my fear left me."

A Trio of Husbands.

The traveled girl was explaining the strange looking locket she had about her neck on a thin gold chain.

"It is a Buddhist charm," she said, "to keep off bad luck. A swarthy little woman in Tibet gave it to me. She took a great fancy to me. It is handsome, if the back is of tin. The face is of turquoise. They make them like that in Tibet. The little woman's husbands came up to her one by one, begging her to go home with them, but she wouldn't till she had finished talking to me. I felt very much flattered. Oh, yes, she had three husbands. The women are very scarce, you know, in Tibet. It was lovely to see them dancing attendance on her; tall fellows they were, too, and handsome.

"She asked me how many husbands I had. It was very humiliating to have to acknowledge to her that I hadn't any," she sighed.

A Real Lemon.

"Talk about a lemon," said a newly engaged man, as he rubbed his hands wildly through his hair. "I thought I was on the wrong track when I asked a girl to marry me. But she accepted all right and I gave her an engagement ring.

"Imagine how I felt when I called to take her to the theater last night and she greeted me in a hat trimmed with lemons. I almost fainted at the sight, but apparently she didn't notice my embarrassment, for she smiled sweetly and asked me—how I liked them. And now I'm wondering whether it's all off and whether I'll get back the ring."

OVERDRAFTS

It is becoming well known by business men that overdrafts, whether large or small, are not approved by the comptroller of the currency. The large central banks allow overdrafts only in a very unusual way, and this, it matters not how small, is not approved by the powers that be. This unbusinesslike habit of overdrafts grew out of advancing on moving products, such as cotton, grain and fat stock on the move. The overdraft system is wrong and the man whose account is always overdrawn is the man who spends more money than he makes and will finally have no bank account.

RAN INTO BURNING BRIDGE.

Frisco Engineer Couldn't See for the Fog—Nobody Hurt.

Frisco passenger train No. 512, northbound, about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning ran into a burning bridge south of Scullin with right serious results in the way of interrupted traffic.

An early morning fog prevented the engineer seeing the danger until right upon the burning structure. Both he and the fireman jumped and luckily escaped injury. The timbers giving way, the locomotive tumbled down the embankment and lay helplessly on its side. Save the front trucks of the mail car, all the rest of the train came to a standstill on the track, all intact and no one injured.

A repairing crew was hurriedly got together at Francis and Ada and by 10 o'clock left here for the scene of the wreck. It is thought the track will be restored before night.

The morning Meteor after being held at Ada two hours, departed for Denison over the M. K. & T. tracks. The other southbound went on to the burned bridge, transferred with the wrecked train and reached Ada on its return at 2 p. m.

WHOLE TOWN WON BY "REVIVAL"

Remarkable Success Attends Work of Evangelists at Abingdon, Illinois.

PLACE IS TRANSFORMED

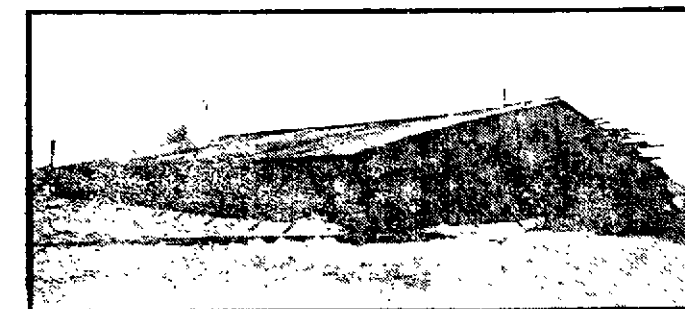

Over 700 Converts in City of About 2,500 Population—Churches Not Large Enough to Hold Crowds and a Tabernacle Erected by Voluntary Laborers—Business Men Plan to Build Permanent Y. M. C. A. Building for the Youth of the Town as a Monument to the Wonderful Work.

Abingdon, Ill.—A remarkable revival has swept over this town, converting all save 200 or 300. The place is transformed. The streets ring with Gospel songs day and night. Cottage prayer meetings are now the fashionable thing. Young headlins who loathed school, gambling and swearing, now spend their leisure hours reading their Bibles and praying. The community has been moved in much the same manner as were the Welsh villages in the heart of the awakening there.

The movement began under the leadership of two young evangelists, Ira Evans Hicks and E. S. Galloway, assisted by Homer Alexander, brother of Charles M. Alexander, the famous Gospel singer. Some idea of the upheaval wrought by the revival may be gained from the fact that there were over 700 converts, with scores of backsliders reclaimed, in a town of only about 2,500 population.

Volunteers Erect Tabernacle

The meetings began a month ago in the largest church in Abingdon, seating 800 people. It soon proved altogether too small and with typical western energy the people set to work to erect a tabernacle that would accommodate the crowds. With the assistance of about 50 volunteers a tabernacle seating 2,000 was erected in three days. Not a penny was spent for labor. It contained a spectacular platform, accommodated 300, was heated with electricity heated stoves. Then the meetings went forward with redoubled vigor. The "tough" young men of the town attended nightly, the farmers drove in from all the surrounding district, and the building proved none too large to hold the throngs which gathered day by day.

Immense Tabernacle Erected in Which Services Were Held.

People say it is in answer to prayer that the work began. The young evangelists and their helpers make it a rule to spend an hour daily in prayer. The people quickly caught the religious fervor, and they, too, spent hours upon their knees. During the fourth week over 100 people agreed to spend at least half an hour daily in prayer. It is known that even some of the children spent an hour in prayer daily.

Revival Flame Strong.

The revival flame swept the town almost clean. Among the early converts were boys and girls; then came young men and women, and finally men who had never professed Christianity, business men, college students, workmen in the factories, and gray-haired army veterans. In a number of cases four or five members of one family were converted. One young man arose in a meeting and testified that his father (an ex-saloon keeper) and mother and five brothers and four sisters had been saved—11 in all.

E. S. Galloway.

In the large wagon factory in Abingdon scores of the men went forward and professed salvation. The entire atmosphere of the place was changed. Scarcely half a dozen men were left unconverted. Instead of drinking and sweating at the dinner hour, they now have a daily song service and prayer meeting. One of the factory converts was an atheist for many years, who roundly cursed everything Christian. He now carries a little Testament in his pocket wherever he goes. Another convert was a notorious character about the town, drinking and carousing, and being once nearly killed in a brawl. He is a big, vigorous man, and is now throwing all his energy into winning others. Within four days after his conversion he had led nine old companions to the front to publicly confess their faith.

Students Brought to Grace.

Hedding college is located in Abingdon, and the revival wrought a big change there. Of the 150 regular students all but four or five are now converted. As one of the professors expressed it: "Nobody tries to keep track of the prayer meetings. The attendance varies from two up to almost the whole number of students."

One of the most enthusiastic converts was the editor of one of the local newspapers. He helped promote the movement and spread the fire into the country districts by placing his paper in the hands of the evangelists for a week. They issued three "revival editions" describing the work in Abingdon, and giving news of the worldwide awakening. In each issue there were about two columns of Scripture narrative put into newspaper form, and a decision card which could be signed by any reader and sent the evangelists. It created great interest.

Rev. F. L. Hanson, pastor of the Congregational church in Abingdon, in giving one of the "revival editions" his impressions of the work, said: "The great revival which is sweeping over the city is the greatest blessing that has come to it since its inception. The churches are united as never before. Christians love one another as at no other time. And there are more saved souls in Abingdon today than at any period of her past history. Five hundred and more have been wonderfully and gloriously converted to God. Husbands have been saved and liberated from habits that bound them and made them slaves—wives have been saved from indifferent lives and made to slung anew for Jesus—while scores have 'come back to the grave' where they years ago buried all their hopes, and bidding them come forth, came back with shining faces, saying:

Numerous "Pocket Testament Leagues" have been organized among the boys and girls and young people of the town. Each member carries a Testament in his or her pocket, reads the Scriptures daily and endeavors to win others to Christ. The members meet weekly at one another's homes for testimony and prayer.

Another result of the revival is that several have decided to become preachers or Gospel singers. One lad, about 15 years of age, said he had decided to become a minister, while another about 12 said that was what he wanted to do. A young workman in a factory says he hopes shortly to go to the Moody Bible Institute to prepare for evangelistic work. He told me that he now loves his Bible and souls so much that he cannot put his heart into his work at the factory any more. He longs to spend the whole day at home reading his Bible and then going out to win the lost.

Will Become Gospel Singer.

A young man who is one of the foremost students in Hedding college has decided to become a Gospel singer. He now has charge of the choir in the largest church in Abingdon, and has exceptional talent as a singer and musical conductor. He has been a nominal Christian for years. A few days ago he declared that heretofore his ambition had been to become a professional singer for his own glory; but that now he has yielded all to Christ and desires to be used for God's glory. He will probably unite with Homer Alexander in conducting revival meetings in a neighboring town.

The business men of Abingdon have declared their intention of caring for the bodies as well as the souls of the large number of young men among the converts, and have started a movement for the erection of a Y. M. C. A. building. This will stand as a brick and mortar monument to this unique revival.

WHAT THEY WANTED TO KNOW.

Children Had Many Questions to Put to Wise Man.

To find out what is passing in the thoughts of my children I yesterday confronted them with this demand. Suppose this morning an all wise man were to enter our classroom, what six things would you ask? The children were ordinary, everyday Canadian boys and girls, between the ages of nine and 14, but the questions they put to that imaginary shape from the all wise shades were not commonplace. They surprised me not a little and have set me thinking. So writes Miss Agnes Deans Cameron in the January Pall Mall Magazine, and a few of the many she gives are subjoined:

"Why is it that the sun only goes half way round the earth?" "Why is it that we don't slip off the earth?" "If the earth stopped, what would happen to us?" "How big is a volcano inside?" "Who was the first school teacher?" "Please can you tell me all about history?"

"When the world comes to an end, how can the people be united if parts of their bodies are in different parts of the world?" "Who was the man that invented grammar?" "What does ignorance personified mean?" "Where was God born?" "What holds this world up?" "Why did the Lord make many planets, instead of one large one?" "If the earth stopped going round, what would happen?" "If you jumped off the world and went straight on, where would you go to?" "Why did Joseph not tell his brethren he was their brother the first time they came down to Egypt to buy corn?" "What is the power of one of the suckers of a devilfish?" "Who is the prettiest person in the world?" "Why did Noah take some animals into the ark and leave others to get drowned?" "Why is there such a thing as politics?" "Why are some people more sensible than others?"

It is a boy who writes: "I would like to know how you can tell mother pigeons from father pigeons?" and "Who invented the first joke?" while the youngest girl in the whole class wrote, in a wee little hand, in the middle of a sheet of foolscap: "Please would you tell me what my mother thinks every day in her mind?"

WHEN SERVING EGGS

SOME NEW METHODS OF COOKING WORTH TRYING.

Departures from Old Styles That Will Be Appreciated by the Family or Guests—Eggs a la Goldenrod.

Eggs a la Suisse.—Four eggs, one-half cup cream, one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons grated cheese, salt, pepper, cayenne. Heat a small omelet pan, put in butter and when melted add cream. Slip in the eggs one at a time, sprinkle with salt, pepper, and a few grains of cayenne. When whites are nearly firm sprinkle with cheese. Finish cooking and serve on buttered toast. Strain cream over the toast.

Eggs a la Buckingham.—Make five slices milk toast and arrange on platter. Use recipe for scrambled eggs, having the eggs slightly underdone. Pour eggs over toast, sprinkle with four tablespoons grated mild cheese. Put in oven to melt cheese and finish cooking eggs.

Eggs a la Finnoise.—Have ready a shallow pan two-thirds full of boiling salted water, allowing one-half tablespoon salt to one quart of water. Put two or three buttered muffin pans in the water. Break each egg separately into a cup and carefully slip into a muffin ring. The water should cover the eggs. When there is a film over the top and the white is firm carefully remove with a buttered skimmer to circular pieces of buttered toast and cover with a tomato sauce, seasoned with salt and pepper and butter.

Shirred Eggs.—Butter an egg shirrer. Cover bottom and sides with fine cracker crumbs. Break an egg into a cup and carefully slip into shirrer. Cover with seasoned buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until white is firm and crumbs brown. The shirrers should be placed on a tin plate that they may be removed easily from the oven.

Eggs in Tomatoes.—Cut a slice from stem end of tomato, scoop out the pulp, slip in an egg, sprinkle with salt and pepper, cover with buttered crumbs, and bake.

Eggs a la Goldenrod.—Three hard boiled eggs, one tablespoon butter, one tablespoon flour, one cup milk, one-half teaspoon salt, one eighth teaspoon pepper, five slices toast, parsley. Make a thin, white sauce with butter, flour, milk and seasonings. Separate yolks from whites of eggs. Chop whites finely and add them to the sauce. Cut four slices of toast in halves lengthwise, arrange on platter and pour over the sauce. Force the yolks through a potato ricer or strainer, sprinkling over the top. Garnish with parsley and remaining toast cut in points.

Egg Farci.—Cut hard boiled eggs in halves crosswise. Remove yolks and put whites aside in pairs. Mash yolks and add equal amount of cold cooked chicken or veal finely chopped. Moisten with melted butter or mayonnaise.

A Handy Remedy for Burns.

I have often heard women say that they can never go near the kitchen stove without getting burned, and no doubt some of us, if not all of us, have suffered many big as well as little burns and scalds for the want of some simple remedy. Of course, we all know that bicarbonate of soda or common baking soda is one of the simplest remedies, but even that does not give immediate relief. Kerosene is the easiest remedy to procure, and is always handy in the kitchen, saving steps to the medicine chest when one is in a hurry, and experience has shown it as the most expedient. Cover the burn or scald with the kerosene and repeat until the burning sensation is gone. I have never known any tenderness or soreness to follow, or any trace of the burn to be left wherever kerosene had been used.—Pictorial Review.

Cream Puff.

Put four tablespoonfuls of butter and a cup of water together in a saucepan and place over a slow fire. Have already measured one cup of flour and, as soon as the water and butter reach the boiling point, add the flour all at once and stir vigorously. When thoroughly mixed remove from the fire and add four unbeaten eggs, beating the mixture between the times that each egg is added. Drop by the spoonful on buttered pans, having a space of one and one-half inches between each puff. Bake in a slow oven for half an hour. When done and cool cut a slit in the side of each puff and fill with sweetened whipped cream. Use to a cup of cream four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. This recipe makes eight puffs.

How to Wash Cut Glass.

Never put heavy, elaborately cut glass into very hot water. The depth of the cutting makes it dangerous to expose the glass to sudden expansion caused by the plunge into the hot water. Rinse in tepid water to which has been added a little ammonia, and clean the irregular surfaces with a soft brush. It is also unsafe to turn ice into a cut-glass dish unless it has been gradually chilled in the icebox. Cracked cut glass can frequently be preserved to a useful old age by the skillful insertion of a few rivets. These will not be noticeable, and can be obtained at any crockery store.

To Keep Canvas Bright.

To keep canvas bright apply to the surface a small quantity of linseed oil, using a soft rag, and afterwards rub as dry as possible. Five cents worth of linseed oil will be sufficient for two or three applications.

SNOWBALL PUSHBALL

Fun Which the Boys Can Have with It.

The giant snowball, when completed, is usually fun only for the boy who can manufacture it on the top of a steep hill and then let it roll down, scattering snow and smashing everything in its path until it hits a tree or a fence and flies into a thousand pieces. That is really fun for the boy who lives where the hills are. But the chap who happens to live where the country is flat, or in the city, gets very little amusement out of the big snowball after he has made it. Then it is useful only as the foundation for a snow fort—unless he knows how to play snowball pushball.

Instead of the immense leather or rubber ball that is used in the regular game of pushball a giant snowball is substituted. This is, of course, too heavy to be pushed about in the air, dancing on the upraised hands of the opposing teams, as in the game of pushball proper. First select your playing field and then make the big snow pushball on the spot.

While it is being made measure off your ground, which should be a perfectly level field, or yard. The two goals shown in the picture are 30 feet apart. The goal itself is 20 feet wide between its sticks. The snow pushball must be firmly rolled in a hard, compact mass, strong enough to stand the strain of being tugged and pushed about. This may be done by dampening the snow. Now choose sides, matched as evenly as possible, and you are ready for the game.

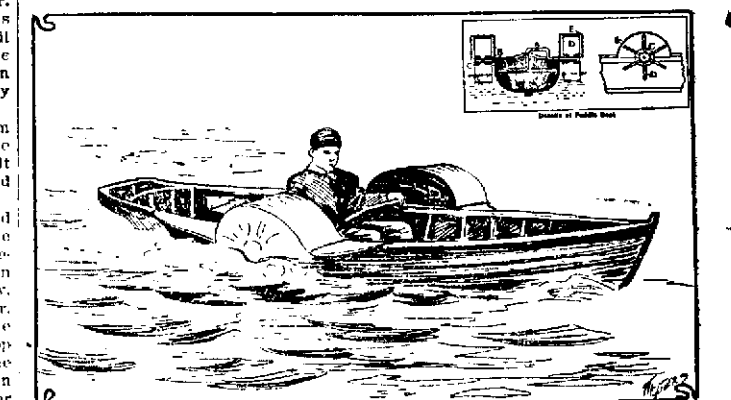

The ball is put in play in the middle of the field, as in football, explains Good Literature. The teams line up on each side of it, and at a given signal as many as can touch it with their hands and try to force it toward their opponents' goal. The team that rolls it over its adversary's goal line wins. Football tactics and body checking may or may not be used, but a player may not hold an opponent.

You may think this an easy game to play, but there is one thing which makes it quite unique and may change your opinion.

If you hold your game on a field when the snow is very deep and "packy" the ball is bound to become larger and heavier with every revolution it makes, on account of the snow it collects as it rolls along, so that the nearer the winning side pushes it toward their weaker opponents' goal, the heavier and more awkward to manage it becomes, until—

Maybe just as they finally manage to force it within a few feet of the weak side's goal line the ball grows so big that it is absolutely impossible to budge it—and then a tie game results, much to the mortification of the strong team and the joyful surprise of their weaker opponents.

Making a Paddle Boat for Next Summer

The Paddle Boat Complete, and the Working Parts.

A rowboat has several disadvantages. The operation of the oars is both tiresome and uninteresting and the oarsman is obliged to travel backwards. By replacing the oars with paddles, as shown in the illustration, the operator can see where he is going and enjoy the exercise much better than with oars. He can easily steer the boat with his feet, by means of a pivoted stick in the bottom of the boat, connected by cords to the rudder.

The following directions are given by Popular Science: At the blacksmith shop have a five-eighths inch shaft made, as shown at A, Fig. 2. It will be necessary to furnish a sketch giving all the dimensions of the shaft, which should be designed to suit the dimensions of the boat, taking care that sufficient clearance is allowed, so that the cranks in revolving will not strike the operator's knees. If desired, split-wood handles may be placed on the cranks, to prevent them from rubbing the hands.

The bearings, B, can be made of hard wood, but preferably of iron pipe filled with melted babbitt. If babbitt is used, either thoroughly smoke or chalk the shaft or wrap paper around it to prevent the babbitt sticking. The pieces of pipe may be then fastened to the boat by means of small pipe straps, such as may be obtained at any plumber's at a very small cost.

The hubs, C, should be made of wood, drilled to fit the shaft and mortised out to hold the paddles, D. The covers, E, may be constructed of thin wood or galvanized iron and should be braced by triangular boards, as shown in Fig. 1. If galvanized iron is used it should be exposed to the weather two or three months before painting or the paint will come off, spoiling its appearance.

A PORTABLE DARK-ROOM.

Outfit Which the Amateur Photographer Will Find Convenient.

Many amateur photographers who cannot have a regular dark-room will find the device here illustrated very useful and convenient. If desired it may be constructed so as to allow folding up when not in use, by using hinges at A and B and making the slides flexible.

The bottom and frame are made of wood and the walls are constructed of light-proof cloth, formed by gluing black paper between two pieces of black cloth. The back should be full enough to allow plenty of room for the operator and the cloth should be tied securely around his waist to exclude every possible ray of light.

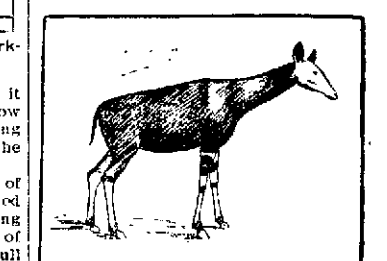

It is well to paint the whole interior a dull black, so that any small leakage of light will not be reflected. The ventilating tube and drain pipe should be bent as shown, to exclude the light, and the ruby glass should be carefully fitted for the same purpose. It is also desirable to have a hinged shutter, S, to cover the ruby glass while waiting for the plate to develop. This, explains Popular Mechanics, is to prevent any unnecessary exposure to the ruby light as any light, no matter how colored or subdued, has some effect on the sensitive plate or film. The drain pipe shown on this outfit may be omitted if desired, although it is convenient at times and gives a better circulation of air.

THE SHY OKAPI.

Strange Animal That is Found in Some Parts of Africa.

Another specimen of this singular African animal has recently been obtained by Major Powell-Cotton. It was killed in the Ituri forest by a native hunter. So far as Major Powell-Cotton has been able to learn, says Youth's Companion, only one European had previously seen a living okapi. The Mambuti natives (pygmies) say that the okapi is solitary in its habits—that even the two members of a pair invariably feed apart, although when they have a calf they frequent the same region of the forest. The female keeps her calf concealed in covert, but visits it at intervals to feed it. The natives usually see the animals in rainy weather, when they sometimes seek shelter under an abandoned roof.

$175,000 STOLEN FROM GOVERNMENT SUB-TREASURY

Chicago, Feb. 26.—The Tribune today says:

One of the largest—if not the largest—thiefs from the United States treasury has been unearthed in Chicago.

Somewhere between $175,000 and $200,000 was stolen from the local sub-treasury last week. The money disappeared as completely as if it had vanished from the face of the earth.

The authorities here and in Washington have been working night and day on the robbery since it was discovered. Chief Wilkie of the United States secret service has been kept informed of every development and Secretary Shaw was told of the gigantic theft when in Chicago last week. The money was stolen, either a week ago Saturday, the next day or Monday. The chances are it was abstracted on Monday. The loss was discovered on Tuesday.

All the money taken was in large bills, bills of the denomination of $1000, $5000, and $10,000.

Just who discovered the loss the sub-treasury official would not admit last night. Neither would they tell from what department the money was taken nor how the loss was discovered.

An investigation showed that the thieves were employees of the sub-treasury and were at that moment pursuing their daily tasks. Every man who could have anything to do with the case was put through an exhaustive examination and a still more rigid cross-examination. Finally suspicion was directed toward Mr. Boldenweek, a certain clerk, and another employee, a close associate of the first man.

These men were summoned into the inquisition chamber separately and subjected to a grueling examination. One thought to be the moving spirit, came through the ordeal without turning a hair. The other, younger and much weaker, showed signs of breaking down. Just what he admitted the secret service men refuse to disclose, but it is believed to be tantamount to a confession.

Every employee of the office is under surveillance day and night and should one or more of them prove to be the thief or thieves escape will be impossible.

WORK OF CONVENTION WILL BE FINISHED BY MARCH 20

Guthrie, Feb. 26.—On the motion of Delegate Haskell Monday morning President Murray was authorized to appoint a "steering committee" to consist of ten members, who are to hasten the work and see that there is no delay in getting propositions up for consideration. The committee is a judiciary committee authorized to investigate the legal phases of questions up for consideration and to clear all complications. The committee is as follows: Hayes, Leashey, Moore, R. L. Williams, Ledbetter, Kane, Kornegay, Asp, Henshaw and King.

It is very probable that beginning some time this week the convention will hold night sessions. A petition containing 45 names asking for a session beginning at 7:30 each evening was presented yesterday by Delegate Edley. It was referred to the committee on rules and in all probability they will submit a favorable report some time this week. The 20th day of March will see the work of the convention at a close.

Chairman Hughes of the committee on municipal corporations yesterday filed the report of the committee with the convention, recommending the adoption of the Galveston municipal government system in cities over three thousand five hundred inhabitants. The power of the initiative and referendum is extended to the cities in the settlement of matters pertaining to their local government.

The report recommends that the cities be delegated power over all of the functions of city government free from legislative interference with the exception of their relations to the state as an integral part thereof.

The cities are delegated the right to engage in any business as a municipality and given the right of municipal ownership.

The committee on labor and arbitration has submitted the following report to the convention:

We, the committee on labor and arbitration, having had under consideration various propositions referred to us, beg leave to submit the following report:

Section 1. There is hereby created a department of labor.

Sec. 2. There is hereby created the office of labor commissioner to be elected by the people, whose term of office shall be four years, and whose salary shall be—, and whose duties shall be prescribed by the legislature.

Sec. 3. The legislature shall create a board of arbitration and cancellation in the labor department, and the labor commissioner shall be ex-officio chairman.

Sec. 4. Eight hours shall constitute a legal day's work on all work engaged in or aided by the state, county or municipality.

Sec. 5. The contracting of convict labor is hereby prohibited.

Sec. 6. The employment of children in shops, mills and factories, and other occupations injurious to health or morals, or especially hazardous to life or limb, under the age of 14, is hereby prohibited.

Sec. 7. The legislature shall pass laws to provide for the health and safety of employees in factories, mines or railroads.

TELLS HOW OKLAHOMA WILL STACK UP AT JAMESTOWN

"No other state in the Union will be able to show a larger or more complete display of mineral resources than Oklahoma will have in her exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition," is the statement of Superintendent Thoburn of the Oklahoma-Jamestown Exhibit. Continuing Mr. Thoburn said: "Few, even of her own people, realize the diversity, extent and richness of Oklahoma's mineral wealth. Missouri has sometimes been called 'the Pennsylvania of the west,' but Oklahoma does not have to accept any such second-hand compliments, for, in both the variety and extent of her mineral resources, she is several laps ahead of either of these great states. She can duplicate nearly every mineral product of either of them, and besides she possesses a number of others which are unknown to these states."

"The coal, oil and gas fields of Oklahoma are recognized among the greatest in the world. The asphalt deposits are so vast that no attempt has ever been made to compute their value. The metallic ores of Oklahoma include iron, copper, lead and zinc, with small quantities of gold and silver also."

"Oklahoma has building stone in almost endless variety. Included in the list are granite, marble, coillite, limestone, sandstone and alabaster. Its clays and shales, which are suitable for the manufacture of brick, tile, pottery and other clay products, are of great variety and distribution. Its gypsum deposits, which are adapted to the manufacture of some cement, are not excelled anywhere in the world. All of the materials for the manufacture of portland cement are to be found in this state with the necessary fuel right at hand. Quartz, sand and natural gas, iron ore and coking coal, occur in convenient proximity in this new state."

"Oklahoma has salt enough to season the soups and sauces and salads of millions of this world's hungry workmen. To her frontiers and wells come many of the earth's afflicted to drink of the healing mineral waters and be whole again. She could paint the surface of the entire earth red and still have a large part of her supply of mineral paint yet untouched."

"All of these advantages and others not enumerated should be fully represented in the Oklahoma exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition. Enterprising and patriotic citizens of the new state should evince a personal interest in this important matter and aid the Oklahoma-Jamestown Exposition company in its efforts to secure a representative display of the mineral resources and products for the exhibit which it is now gathering."

MAKE HASTE TO COMPLETE ENROLLMENT BY MARCH 4

Muskogee, I. T., Feb. 26.—"Take what information you have and write decisions on citizenship cases according to your judgment" is the effect of an order that is now effective to the law clerks in the commission who are passing on the applications of Indian applicants for enrollment and allotment.

The one idea now is to close all enrollment cases by March 4. In order to do this Commissioner Bixby has sent a force of law clerks and stenographers to Washington and they are working with the Indian office of the department of the interior. When a schedule of approved applicants arrives from the commissioner, and the department of the interior wants any change made, the law clerks make the changes and wire Commissioner Bixby to that effect. This saves the indefinable delay of letting the papers go through the department, be returned to the commissioner here and then sent back to Washington again. All of the enrollment work is kept right up to the hour now. Every case that is passed upon here is sent immediately to the secretary of the interior. The secretary must close finally all enrollment cases by March 4. After that time no application can be received and neither can a case be reopened.

The People Who Put The Price Down

MARCH 12 THE DAY FOR DEMOCRATIC CITY PRIMARY

In accordance with the call issued last week the Ada Democratic Club assembled several score strong in the commissioners' court room Monday night. President J. P. Wood presided and B. C. King was appointed secretary pro tem.

The chair explained it was the custom of the club to meet about this time each year, elect new officers and take steps to hold a city primary election.

Nominations for club president being called for, Judge Wood was re-nominated and elected by acclamation for another term. The audience would not permit the office of vice-president to go without a contest and a little fun. L. J. Little, George Thompson, R. O. Wheeler, and J. W. Davis were all nominated, but Mr. Little got the bulk of the votes.

For secretary J. W. Davis was again nominated, but he emphatically declined to run, insisting he was not fit for the office; that if he should write anything it would have to be sent to Hong Kong to get it read. As a consequence B. C. King was unanimously chosen, and the duties of treasurer were attached to the secretaryship. For sergeant-at-arms Otis B. Weaver was nominated. Being keenly covetous of the honor, Mr. Weaver forestalled any opposition by moving, himself, that the nomination of Mr. King be carried amid wild applause, and Mr. Weaver got his'n by a unanimous, rising vote.

Next came the selection of an executive committee, which should arrange for the city primary. Considerable discussion of the powers to be exercised by the committee followed, particular stress being paid to the question of whether the coming election shall be governed by the old Arkansas statutes or by the Oklahoma law. Finally a much amended motion carried, directing the chair to appoint one man from each ward, they at once to select an executive committeeman from each ward. The chair named Messrs. Geo. Harrison, Ligon, Barton, and George Thompson. Soon they reported the following, who together with the president, constitute the executive committee: J. T. Conn, Jack Shirley, W. D. Lowden, Duke Stone.

A motion of Mr. Stone prevailed that Tuesday, March 12, be set for the city Democratic primary, that being just three weeks previous to the city election. More discussion of the committee's powers and the confusion of the election laws ensued, resulting in that body being clothed with plenary powers in the premises.

The chair appointed Attorneys Stone, Barton, Campbell, and Galbraith a committee to get busy picking out the proper procedure from the mass of legal confusion occasioned by the coming on of statehood, their conclusions to be submitted to the mayor.

RAN INTO BURNING BRIDGE.

Frisco Engineer Couldn't See for the Fog—Nobody Hurt.

Frisco passenger train No. 512, north-bound, about 8 o'clock Tuesday morning ran into a burning bridge south of Scullin with right serious results in the way of interrupted traffic.

An early morning fog prevented the engineer seeing the danger until right upon the burning structure. Both he and the fireman jumped and luckily escaped injury. The timbers giving way, the locomotive tumbled down the embankment and lay helplessly on its side. Save the front trucks of the mail car, all the rest of the train came to a standstill on the track, all intact and no one injured.

A repairing crew was hurriedly got together at Francis and Ada and by 10 o'clock left here for the scene of the wreck. It is thought the track will be restored before night.

The morning Meteor after being held at Ada two hours, departed for Denison over the M. K. & T. tracks. The other southbound went on to the burned bridge, transferred with the wrecked train and reached Ada on its return at 2 p. m.

WHOLE TOWN WON BY "REVIVAL"

Remarkable Success Attends Work of Evangelists at Abingdon, Illinois.

PLACE IS TRANSFORMED

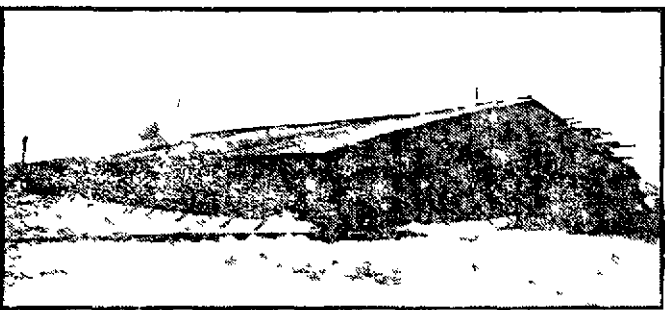

Over 700 Converts in City of About 2 500 Population—Churches Not Large Enough to Hold Crowds and a Tabernacle Erected by Voluntary Laborers—Business Men Plan to Build Permanent Y M C A Building for the Youth of the Town as a Monument to the Wonderful Work

Abingdon, Ill. A revival like which has swept over this town converting all save 200 of 99. The place is transformed. The streets ring with Gospel songs day and night. Cottages, private homes, the new fashionable church, the schoolhouse, the homes of the town, are all centers of religious activity. The revival has been under the leadership of two young evangelists, Evans Hicks and E. S. Galloway, assisted by Homer Alexander, brother of Charles M. Alexander, the famous Gospel singer. Some idea of the upsurge of religious life in the town may be gained from the fact that there were over 700 converts with scores of backsliders reclaimed in a town of only about 2 500 population.

Immense Tabernacle Erected in Which Services Were Held

the meetings went forward with redoubled vigor. The town's young men of the town attended nightly the farmers drove in from all the surrounding district and the building proved none too large to hold the throngs which gathered day by day.

People say it is an answer to prayer that the work is in. The young evangelists and their helpers make it a rule to spend an hour daily in prayer. The people quickly caught the religious fever and they too spent hours upon their knees. During the fourth week over 100 people ached to stand at least half an hour daily in prayer. It was with that even some of the children spent an hour in prayer daily.

Revival Flame Strong

The revival flame swept the town almost clear. Among the early converts were boys and girls, then came young men and women, and finally men who had never possessed Christianity. Business men, college students, workmen in the factories and gray-haired army veterans. In a number of cases four or five members of one family were converted. One young man arose in a meeting and testified that his father (an ex-saloon keeper) and mother and five brothers and four sisters had been saved—11 in all. In the large wagon factory in Abingdon scores of the men went forward and professed salvation. The entire atmosphere of the place was changed. Scarcely half a dozen men were left unconvinced. Instead of drinking and sweating at the dinner hour, they now have a daily song service and prayer meeting. One of the factory converts was an atheist for many years, who roundly cursed everything Christian. He now carries a little Testament in his pocket when over he goes. Another convert was a notorious character about the town, drinking and carousing and being once nearly killed in a brawl. He is a big, vigorous man and is now throwing all his energy into winning others. Within four days after his conversion he had led nine old companions to the front to publicly confess their faith.

Students Brought to Grace.

Hedding college is located in Abingdon and the revival wrought a big change there. Of the 150 regular students all but four or five are now converted. A lot of the professors expressed a desire to keep track of the revival progress. The attendance varies from two up to almost the whole number of students.

One of the most enthusiastic converts was the editor of one of the local newspapers. He held a position in the town and he had been in the town for many years. He had been in the town for many years. He had been in the town for many years. He had been in the town for many years.

Rev. I. J. Hunsome, pastor of the Congregational church in Abingdon, in saying one of the revival additions, his impressions of the work said:

The revival which is sweeping over the city is the greatest blessing that has come to it since its inception. The churches are filled as never before. Christian love one another as it never has. And there are more saved souls in Abingdon today than at any time in its past history. Five hundred and more have been won, and more are being won. The revival has been a great blessing to the town.

Students Brought to Grace.

The business men of Abingdon have declared their intention of caring for the bodies as well as the souls of the large number of young men among the converts and have started a movement for the erection of a Y M C A building. This will stand as a brick and mortar monument to this unique revival.

Praise Work of Evangelists

Christian people should thank God for the coming of Hicks and Galloway. They have awakened us—awakened us—led us into a closer walk with God and best of all have piloted 99 precious souls over the turbulent waters of a sinful world to the foot of the Cross. Think God—but God be praised for the great the marvelous the glorious work of grace. Let all the people say Amen.

The greatest day of the revival was the day when the people spent in fasting and prayer. The public schools and stores closed a part of the morning while Hedding college had no session throughout the day. About 1 000 people assembled at the tabernacle at 10 o'clock to listen to a sermon by Mr. Hicks and thereafter the service continued for over 12 hours. It was nearly 11 p.m. when they finally left the tabernacle. All the people didn't stay the entire 12 hours, but the meeting went on without a break and the average present throughout the day was fully 600. Hundreds spent 1 hour to eight hours at the tabernacle singing psalms and playing. Between five and six o'clock all knelt and continued an hour upon their knees. Their prayers were answered in a remarkable manner. In the afternoon a noted local character for whom many had been praying went to the front. At night he took forward four of his former associates. Prayer had also been offered for a man who seemed well-nigh demon-possessed in his opposition to the revival and to Christianity. At night he was one of about 30—most of them strong men—who went forward.

Bibles in Great Demand

One of the most striking visible results of the awakening was the increased demand for Bibles and Testaments. The dealers could not get them in fast enough. First Chicago was drawn upon and then New York. It seemed as if every boy and man in the town wanted to carry a Testament or Bible in his pocket. And in their enthusiasm the converts were not particular about the pocket Bible being very small. One evening a 15-year-old boy walked into the store and paid $2.50 for a Bible telling the dealer he was going to spend all the next day reading it.

Numerous "Pocket Testament Leagues" have been organized among the boys and girls and young people of the town. Each member carries a Testament in his or her pocket, reads the Scriptures daily and endeavors to win others to Christ. The members meet weekly at one another's homes for testimony and prayer.

Ira Evans Hicks

me that he now loves his Bible and souls so much that he cannot put his heart into his work at the factory any more. He longs to spend the whole day at home reading his Bible and then going out to win the lost.

Will Become Gospel Singer.

A young man who is one of the foremost students in Hedding college has decided to become a Gospel singer. He now has charge of the choir in the largest church in Abingdon and has exceptional talent as a singer and musical conductor. He has been a nominal Christian for years. A few days ago he declared that hereafter his ambition had been to become a professional singer for his own glory, but that now he has yielded all to Christ and desires to be used for God's glory. He will probably unite with Homer Alexander in conducting revival meetings in a neighboring town.

The business men of Abingdon have declared their intention of caring for the bodies as well as the souls of the large number of young men among the converts and have started a movement for the erection of a Y M C A building. This will stand as a brick and mortar monument to this unique revival.

WHAT THEY WANTED TO KNOW

Children Had Many Questions to Put to Wise Man

To find out what is passing in the thoughts of my children I yesterday confronted them with this demand: "Suppose this morning all our wise men were to enter our classroom and ask six things would you ask? The children were ordinary everyday children boys and girls between the ages of nine and 14 but the questions they put to that imaginary sage were of the all-wise shades were not commonplace. They surprised me not a little and have set me thinking. So writes Miss Agnes Deans Cameron in the January Pull Mail Magazine and a few of the many she gives are subjoined.

Why is it that the sun only goes half way round the earth? Why is it that we don't slip off the earth? If the earth stopped what would happen to us? How big is a volcano inside? Who was the first school teacher? Please can you tell me all about history?

When the world comes to an end how can the people be united? If parts of their bodies are in different parts of the world? Who was the man that invented grammar? What does ignorance personified mean? What was God born? What holds this world up? Why did the Lord make many planets instead of one large one? If the earth stopped going round what would happen? If you jumped off the world and went straight on where would you go? Why did Joseph not tell his brethren he was their brother the first time they came down to Egypt to buy corn? What is the power of one of the suckers of a devilfish? Who is the prettiest person in the world? Why did Noah take some animals into the ark and leave others to get drowned? Why is there such a thing as politics? Why are some people more sensible than others?

A Foolish Question.

Dreamer—Do you think environment has much of an effect on a person?

Blunt—Thunderation! Were you ever surrounded by a swarm of bees?

WHEN SERVING EGGS

SOME NEW METHODS OF COOKING WORTH TRYING.

Departures from Old Styles That Will Be Appreciated by the Family or Guests—Eggs a la Goldenrod.

Eggs a la Suisse—Four eggs, one half cup cream, one tablespoon butter, two tablespoons grated cheese salt, pepper, cayenne. Heat a small omelet pan put in butter and when melted add cream. Slip in the eggs one at a time sprinkle with salt pepper and a few grains of cayenne. When whites are nearly firm sprinkle with cheese. Finish cooking and serve on buttered toast. Strain cream over the toast.

Eggs a la Buckingham—Make five slices milk toast and arrange on platter. Use recipe for scrambled eggs, having the eggs slightly underdone. Pour eggs over toast sprinkle with four tablespoons grated mild cheese. Put in oven to melt cheese and finish cooking eggs.

Eggs a la Finnoise—Have ready a shallow pan two-thirds full of boiling salted water allowing one half table spoon salt to one quart of water. Put two or three buttered muffin pans in the water. Break each egg separately into a cup and carefully slip into a muffin ring. The water should cover the eggs. When there is a film over the top and the white is firm carefully remove with a buttered skimmer to circular pieces of buttered toast and cover with a tomato sauce seasoned with salt and pepper and butter.

Shirred Eggs—Butter an egg shirrer. Cover bottom and sides with fine cracker crumbs. Break an egg into a cup and carefully slip into shirrer. Cover with seasoned buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until white is firm and crumbs brown. The shirrers should be placed on a tin plate that they may be removed easily from the oven.

Eggs in Tomatoes—Cut a slice from stem end of tomato scoop out the pulp slip in an egg sprinkle with salt and pepper cover with buttered crumbs and bake.

Eggs a la Goldenrod—Three hard boiled eggs one tablespoon butter one tablespoon flour one cup milk one half teaspoon salt one eighth teaspoon pepper five slices toast parsley. Make a thin white sauce with butter flour milk and seasonings. Separate yolks from whites of eggs. Chop whites finely and add them to the sauce. Cut four slices of toast in halves lengthwise arrange on platter and pour over the sauce. Force the yolks through a potato ricer or strainer, sprinkling over the top. Garnish with parsley and remaining toast cut in points.

Egg Farci—Cut hard boiled eggs in halves crosswise. Remove yolks and put whites aside in pairs. Mash yolks and add equal amount of cold cooked chicken or veal finely chopped. Moisten with melted butter or mayonnaise.

A Handy Remedy for Burns

I have often heard women say that they can never go near the kitchen stove without getting burned and no doubt some of us if not all of us have suffered many big as well as little burns and scalds for the want of some simple remedy. Of course we all know that bicarbonate of soda or common baking soda is one of the simplest remedies but even that does not give immediate relief. Kerosene is the easiest remedy to procure and is always handy in the kitchen saving steps to the medicine chest when one is in a hurry and experience has shown it as the most expedient. Cover the burn or scald with the kerosene and repeat until the burning sensation is gone. I have never known any tenderness or soreness to follow or any trace of the burn to be left wherever kerosene had been used.—Pictorial Review

Cream Puff

Put four tablespoonfuls of butter and a cup of water together in a saucepan and place over a slow fire. Have already measured one cup of flour and as soon as the water and butter reach the boiling point add the flour all at once and stir vigorously. When thoroughly mixed remove from the fire and add four unbeaten eggs, beating the mixture between the times that each egg is added. Drop by the spoonful on buttered pans having a space of one and one-half inches between each puff. Bake in a slow oven for half an hour. When done and cool cut a slit in the side of each puff and fill with sweetened whipped cream. Use to a cup of cream four table spoonfuls of powdered sugar and one half teaspoonful of vanilla. This recipe makes eight puffs.

How to Wash Cut Glass

Never put heavy elaborately cut glass into very hot water. The depth of the cutting makes it dangerous to expose the glass to sudden expansion caused by the plunge into the hot water. Rinse in tepid water to which has been added a little ammonia and clean the irregular surfaces with a soft brush. It is also unsafe to turn ice into a cut glass dish unless it has been gradually chilled in the icebox. Cracked cut glass can frequently be preserved to a useful old age by the skillful insertion of a few rivers. These will not be noticeable and can be obtained at any crockery store.

To Keep Canvas Bright

To keep canvas bright apply to the surface a small quantity of linseed oil using a soft rag, and afterwards rub as dry as possible. Five cents worth of linseed oil will be sufficient for two or three applications.

SNOWBALL PUSHBALL.

Fun Which the Boys Can Have with It.

The giant snowball when completed is usually fun only for the boy who can manufacture it on the top of a steep hill and then let it roll down, scattering snow and smashing every thing in its path until it hits a tree or a fence and flies into a thousand pieces. That is really fun for the boy who lives where the hills are. But the chap who happens to live where the country is flat or in the city, gets very little amusement out of the big snow ball after he has made it. Then it is useful only as the foundation for a snow fort—unless he knows how to play snowball pushball.

Instead of the immense leather or rubber ball that is used in the regular game of pushball a giant snowball is substituted. This is of course, too heavy to be pushed about in the air, and on the up used hands of the opposing teams as in the game of pushball proper. First select your playing field and then make the big snow pushball on the spot. While it is being made measure off

The Paddle Boat Complete, and the Working Parts.

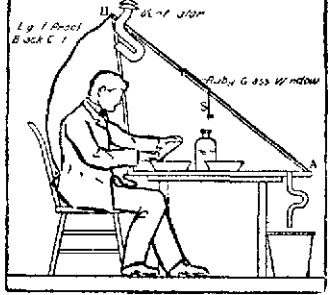

A rowboat has several disadvantages. The operation of the oars is both tiresome and uninteresting and the oarsman is obliged to travel backward. By replacing the oars with paddles as shown in the illustration the operator can see where he is going, and enjoy the exercise much better than with oars. He can easily steer the boat with his feet by means of a pivoted stick in the bottom of the boat connected by cords to the rudders.

The following directions are given by Popular Science. At the blacksmith shop have a five-eighths inch shaft made. It is shown at A Fig 2. It will be necessary to furnish a sketch giving all the dimensions of the shaft which should be designed to suit the dimensions of the boat taking care that sufficient clearance is allowed so that the shafts in revolving will not strike the operator's knees. If de-useful and convenient. If desired it may be constructed so as to allow folding up when not in use by using hinges at A and B and making the sides flexible.

Many amateur photographers who cannot have a regular dark room will find the device here illustrated very

The bottom and frame are made of wood and the walls are constructed of light proof cloth formed by gluing black paper between two pieces of black cloth. The back should be full enough to allow plenty of room for the operator and the cloth should be tied securely around his waist to exclude every possible ray of light.

It is well to paint the whole interior a dull black so that any small leakage of light will not be reflected. The ventilating tube and drain pipe should be bent as shown to exclude the light and the ruby glass should be carefully fitted for the same purpose. It is also desirable to have a hinged shutter, S, to cover the ruby glass while waiting for the plate to develop. This explains Popular Mechanics, is to prevent any unnecessary exposure to the ruby light as any light no mat-

your ground, which should be a perfectly level field, or yard. The two goals shown in the picture are 90 feet apart. The goal itself is 20 feet wide between its sticks. The snow pushball must be firmly rolled in a hard, compact mass, strong enough to stand the strain of being tugged and pushed about. This may be done by dampening the snow. Now choose sides, matched as evenly as possible, and you are ready for the game.

The ball is put in play in the middle of the field as in football, explains Good Literature. The teams line up on each side of it and at a given signal as many as can touch it with their hands and try to force it toward their opponents goal. The team that rolls it over its adversary's goal line wins. Football tactics and body checking may or may not be used, but a player may not hold an opponent.

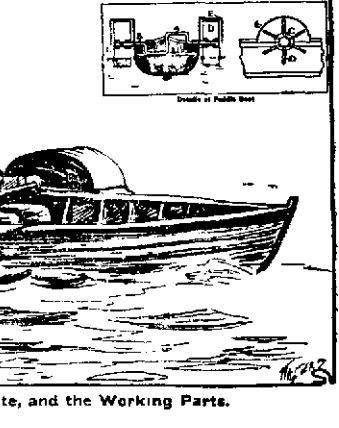

You may think this an easy game to play but there is one thing which makes it quite unique and may change your opinion.

If you hold your game on a field when the snow is very deep and packed the ball is bound to become larger and heavier with every revolution it makes on account of the snow it collects as it rolls along so that the nearer the winning side pushes it toward their weaker opponents goal, the heavier and more awkward to manage it becomes until—

Maybe just as they finally manage to force it within a few feet of the weak side's goal line the ball grows so big that it is absolutely impossible to budge it—and then a tie game results, much to the mortification of the strong team and the joyful surprise of their weaker opponents.
